

WACHA is a Not for profit trade association and the new regulation that has been issued by the FCC will have a major impact on our business today. To reduce costs to our membership we fax out bulletins and training information and information that is requested. Allot of our members do not have e-mail and cannot access the information sent to the electronically. If this legislation was to go through we would have to incurr data base expense to segregate which of our members have access to the internet and if unable to fax would have to mail the information that could cause time delays and additional costs. Our organization receives more junk e-mail than faxes. WACHA receives on an average over 30 junk e-mails a day. It is very time consuming. In summary this ruling will have a Major impact to our organization and our costs will go up considerably and we will have to go back to mailings and maintain a more sophisticated data base. Thank you for your time.
